INVENTORY OF ASSETS TRANSFERRED TO CORE VEGA SYSTEMS

FORMER CUSTODIAN: DEPARTMENT 7 / NII-7

TRANSFER DATE: 21 DECEMBER 1992

DELIVERY LOCATION: CORE VEGA SYSTEMS / NORTH RECEIVING

AGREEMENT STATUS AT RECEIPT: NOT EXECUTED

THE CASES ARRIVED FIRST

Cases received: 12

Records cartons received: 31

Loose instruments: 6

Pages absent by source register: 7

RECEIVED BEFORE AGREEMENT

RECEIPT AND ACCEPTANCE CHRONOLOGY

TIME	EVENT	CONDITION	OWNER
07:40	Cases at loading bay	No purchase order	Security
08:12	Seal count completed	12 of 12	Records
09:15	Due diligence opened	Transferor disputed	Legal
11:20	Seller identity unresolved	No claimant located	Legal
14:05	Board accepts custody	Cost centre created	EEC
16:30	Agreement executed	Effective immediately	E. C. Vale

Annex receipt marks indicate that one schedule was present on 18 December. No receiving entry exists for that date. The schedule was nevertheless inside Case 4 when Case 4 was opened.

Who signed on Friday?

SELECTED INSTRUMENTS AND MATERIALS

ITEM	DESCRIPTION	STATE	RECEIVING NOTE
A-01	Photometric reference console	Complete	Resembles HRO chassis
A-04	Failed reference lamp / sealed	Failed	Listed as working
T-11	Pre-command correlation tapes	17 reels	Eleven-second index
X-04	Paired field rings	Separated	Do not co-locate
R-43	Personnel response files	Restricted	43 candidate series
C-00	Institute entrance sign	Damaged	Name varies
P-12	Envelope: Core Vega Systems	Sealed	Date illegible

A-01 has over mounting holes

CUSTODY ACCEPTANCE AND ASSET OWNERSHIP

Rejecting the delivered holdings would leave storage, security, preservation and hazardous-material obligations without an accountable budget owner. Acceptance creates the ownership structure required to determine whether ownership can be accepted.

> The assets require an owner whether or not the owner requires the assets.
>
> Executive Engineering Committee / minute 92-118

Core Vega therefore accepts custody, operating responsibility and preservation duty. No representation is made concerning origin, title, chronological order or the legal existence of the former custodian.

We accepted responsibility.
That is not the same as belief.

